CLASS OF 1905 BIDS FAREWELL TO PUNAHOU

Nineteen Students Awarded Diplomas from Oahu College---Address by D. L. Withington.
W. S. Bowen Gets Trustee's Cup.

Fair maids in fluffy white and young men in sombre black stood upon the rostrum of Pauahi Hall, Oahu College, last night and received the diplomas that signified their completion of the four years' course at Punahou. There were nineteen graduates this year, the largest graduating class in the history of the institution. Six were young women and thirteen young men. The class has the distinction of having the names of two of its members inscribed on the Punahou Roll of Honor, it has maintained a high standard of scholarship and has furnished a large proportion of the athletes on the college teams. In fact the Class of 1905 has cause to feel proud of its record.

Pauahi Hall was beautifully decorated last night. The entire front wall was covered with the delicate foliage of the bamboo, relieved by large paper lotus flowers and pampas plumes. At the top of the pipe organ a Hawaiian flag was draped while another covered the class gift that stood on the platform. The chandeliers were covered with bamboos. On the platform were seated the president, the speaker and the members of the graduating class. The front rows in the auditorium were reserved for the trustees and faculty. The public filled every available place that remained, many being unable to get into the hall.

The exercises began promptly at eight o'clock with an organ prelude, "Ave Maria" played by Mr. Gerard Barton. Rev. W. M. Kincaid, D. D., gave the invocation. The first class speaker was Miss Florence Hall who read a scholarly essay on "Fashions of Literature" in which she traced the progress of literary effort through the various forms and periods of its history giving most interesting characterizations and examples of the most significant forms. James Hamilton Pratt, the salutatorian, followed with an address on "Present Unifying Forces in the United States" in which he showed how geographical conditions, one language, schools, an excellent transportation system and postal system, national societies and political parties were forces that tended to unify this nation more than other nations are unified and are influences that make for the power and vitality of the whole.

The address of the evening was made by Hon. D. L. Withington on the subject, "The Growth of Thought," concluding as follows:

"To you, my young friends, going forth to the higher institutions of learning or the larger school of life, the decision comes—shall I seek knowledge or wisdom? action or thought?"

OF THE MULTITUDES

who have used it, or are now using it, we have never heard of any one who has been disappointed in it. No claims are made for it except those which are amply justified by experience. In commending it to the afflicted we simply point to its record. It has done great things, and it is certain to continue the excellent work. There is—we may honestly affirm—no medicine which can be used with greater and more reasonable faith and confidence. It nourishes and keeps up the strength during those periods when the appetite fails and food cannot be digested. To guard against imitations this "trade mark" is put on every bottle of accomplishment or attainment? to do rather than to be? I know the allurements of the material life, its beauty, its splendour, its variety. I know that the valleys of life are filled with its triumphs, product of the wonderful advance in the arts and sciences, but its mountain tops are the dwelling places of the heroes of the ages, nor is the path difficult or its end obscure. The voice of wisdom stands approved by that of philosophy and of religion. There are but three ends of human inquiry, says Immanuel Kant in his Critique of Power Reason. "What can I know, what ought I to do, what can I become?" Religion answers in the words of Jesus: "I am the way, the truth and the life." The difficulty is not in seeing clearly if we take thought, but in finding time for thought, in thinking honestly, and in the courage to adhere to our convictions.

"Wampole's Preparation," and without it none is genuine. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Taken before meals it creates an appetite, aids digestion, renews vital power, drives out disease germs, makes the blood rich, red and full of constructive elements, and gives back to the pleasures and labors of the world many who had abandoned hope. Doctor S. H. McCoy, of Canada, says: "I testify with pleasure to its unlimited usefulness as a tissue builder." Its curative powers can always be relied upon. It makes a new era in medicine, and is beneficial from the first dose. "You can trust it as the Ivy does the Oak." One bottle convinces. Avoid all unreliable imitations. Sold by chemists throughout the world.

"To you who are to pursue a college course, I do not urge less diligence in study but I do urge that you keep your minds attuned to the best of the thought life which surrounds that study. For myself I count the four years which I spent in college some of the best years of my life, but after all I brought from them but two things of value. One the association with a body of young men of my own age whose friendships have been with me through life, with whose aims and purposes I became acquainted, who opened to me a wider and more intimate knowledge of my fellow men. The other the association with instructors in whom I saw how small the allurements which seem so great in the material world, are to men who have seen the beauty and dignity of the service of educating the youth of the coming generation and leading them along the right paths to the heights of wisdom. "You who go into the school of life, I beg to remember that however loud may sound the din of its strife and the hum of its industry, you can never know when the call to duty comes unless your mind is alive to catch its voice, and ready to respond to that call.

"So rich is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When duty whispers low, thou must,
The youth replies I can."

After a beautiful piano solo, "The Butterfly," by Grieg, played by Miss Dagmar Sorenson, Miss Juliette May Fraser, who led her class in scholarship, delivered the valedictory, taking as her subject, "Art, an Expression of Love." She showed how the Greek sculptor, out of his love for his gods, wrought beautiful statues, how the cathedral builder typified his love for God in stone, how the painter showed his in the madonna that his brush created. The speaker closed with an allusion to the love that caused the founding of such institutions as Stanford University and Punahou, and made an appeal to her classmates to be loyal to their alma mater.

Guilford H. Whitney, the class president, presented to the college on behalf of the class a beautiful koa chair for the president's use, in the chapel. The chair is carved with the college monogram. At the top are two griffins' heads, while the arms are lions' heads and the front legs lions' paws. President Griffiths made a happy reply, thanking the class and saying that "if the president's chair is ever easy, I think this will make it more so."

The president then announced the winners of the Damon Rhetoric Prize, competed for in a recent declamation contest. The contest was close. First prize went to Miss Ruth Waller and second to Miss Alice Spaulding. Hon. W. R. Castle for the trustees then made the award of the Punahou Roll of Honor and Trustee's Cup. This goes to that student who has, in the opinion of the faculty, done most for Punahou, not only in scholarship, but in other lines as well. The coveted honor and cup went to William Spencer Bowen of the senior class. Miss Florence Hall, who won the cup last year, placed the name plate on the bronze tablet.

President Griffiths also announced that Miss Beatrice Castle had founded a library of books in connection with the college library. These books are given in memory of her cousin, Helen Storrs Lowrey, and the library is endowed with a sufficient sum to keep the books in condition and purchase new ones each year.

With a few well chosen words President Griffiths presented the diplomas. After a song by the chorus and the distribution of flowers, Rev. W. M. Kincaid pronounced the benediction. Following were the graduates: College Preparatory Course—Stanley Haze, Healani Ashford, William Spencer Bowen, Juliette May Fraser, Catharine Warren Goodale, Gerrit Pammelle Judd, Lawrence McCully Judd, James Hamilton Pratt, George Fullerton Renton, Jr., Guilford Harrison Whitney, Paul Withington, General Course—Richard Conrad Ahrens, Alice Cordelia Brown, Florence Hall, Mabel Kalahikiola Kinney, Eunice Cothren Pratt, Commercial Course—Kean Yet Ching, Kim Fook Chung, James A. K. Hattie, Daniel S. K. Pahu.

A LOT OF NEW THINGS

OLD HICKORY—Something new, odd, and dainty—decidedly artistic—in the way of porch and lawn furniture. Can be left out in all kinds of weather. It is a line of fashionable rustic furniture. It is made only of hickory, the strongest of American native woods, the bottoms and backs being plaited by hand and being of very strong inner hickory bark. For a den or lanai or even for your lawn there is nothing more odd than this.

NEW WEATHERED OAK SET—By the "Sonoma" we received a fine weathered oak dining-room set, consisting of a table, an odd buffet, a leaded glass china cabinet, two arm chairs, and eight regular dining chairs, these latter having green leather seats, which go well with the dark color of the oak.

We also received a very handsome golden quartered oak sideboard and a china cabinet—about as good as can be made in any furniture factory.

RUGS—New lot of all sizes of rugs, including fine Wilton's of all sizes.

WICKER CHAIRS And ROCKERS—A lot of cheap wicker work in the way of chairs and rockers is disposed of every year in Honolulu. Some of it lasts for a couple of months and some as long as a year, but the best on the market—that advertised in all the magazines—and the best of American make, made in American factories from the best Ceylon rattan, will last for years. We have a new lot of the American goods in chairs and rockers, of all patterns, shapes and sizes and at reasonable prices.

AND EVERYTHING ELSE NEEDED IN ANY CLASS OF HOUSE FURNISHING.

HAWAIIAN PLANTERS

Factors Company of Hawaii, consisting of all the sugar plantations in Hawaii controlled by H. Hackfeld & Co., C. Brewer & Co., Alexander and Baldwin, Castle & Cooke, T. H. Davies & Co., F. A. Schaefer & Co. and Z. S. Spaulding.

The stock of the Factors Company is held by 37 out of 42 of the island plantations, which own their own sugar mills, and control approximately 240,000 tons of sugar out of an estimated total for 1906 of approximately 400,000 tons, or about 85 per cent of the total estimated output.

The officers and directors of the Factors Sugar Company are E. D. Tenney, president; F. M. Swanzy and C. M. Cooke, vice-presidents; E. E. Paxton, secretary and manager; E. F. Bishop, treasurer; W. Pfotenbauer, auditor, and J. P. Cooke, F. A. Schaefer, S. M. Damon, directors.

THE EASTERN SUGAR REFINERS.

The Factors Company has fortified itself for the coming fight on the Pacific Coast most effectually, by making a contract with the Eastern Sugar Trust for three years from next fall, by which it has the right to sell its entire crop in New York, with the privilege of selling or refining 150,000 tons of sugar on the Pacific Coast. This puts the Factors Company in the advantageous position of being able to refine only so much sugar on the Pacific Coast as it finds profitable to do, or necessary to keep up an effectual competition against its rival, with an assured market for all of its surplus.

The Factors Company has already proved highly beneficial to the Islands sugar interests in its ability to secure low freight rates by concentrating all the freight into one control, thereby ensuring large shipments. Still greater economies in this respect are expected in the future.

Mr. Lorenz has already made a detailed, elaborate and expert examination of the Crockett Refinery and has suggested some changes therein which will be immediately installed. Mr. Rolph and Mr. Lorenz will go to San Francisco in September next, taking charge of the refinery on October 1st and make thorough preparations for beginning refining on the island crop which begins to be manufactured in January next.

This move of the Sugar Factors Company is a long step towards the emancipation of the sugar industry of Hawaii from the unjust terms which have been forced upon it for so many years by the refining interests. It is a strong example of the value of united action. Its promoters hope and believe that such value will be speedily demonstrated in a number of other directions.

"God" is the subject of the Christian Science Association this morning.
